

CAPITAL WINGS

A Happy New Year to all our readers.

We start this month on a bit of a downer because Capital's Christmas Party at the end of November had to be postponed until 13th December. Whilst other Regions have had their fun and happy meals and been able to report on them, you'll have to wait until next month to hear all about our jollities.

Yetti sent news around early on a Saturday morning to say our chosen venue - the Toby - had experienced electrical/power supply problems during the night and that all the food being prepared was spoiled. Another few kilos of meat later and that batch was ruined too and had to be thrown away because of another electrical hiccup. Where is there an electrician when you want one?

Our host was very apologetic, and our meal was re-arranged for two weeks later on 13th December. Sadly, some Capital members were unable to change previous engagements so could not join us. On the plus side, the date change allowed others to have a meal and party.

Our last Mole Night of the month and the year saw the few regulars attending for a drink and eating what seemed like boxes and boxes of mince pies brought in by our adjacent Region, Essex Wings. New Reps Dave and Bev have got off to a flying start, following Capital's tradition of bringing cakes to the meeting every month. It's an excuse to celebrate birthdays and why not.

A Pair of Primarks

The topic of conversation was also the latest Goldwing accessory - a black hoodie number courtesy of Primark. Apparently, everyone was buying one so expect to see a lot of lookalikes when there is a big gathering in the future. Dave was game to model his hoodie so here he is.

That's all for this month - very short and sweet.
